

CLOSING RATES
Yesterday of cotton and gold: Liverpool cotton, 14. New York cotton, 13 1/2. Memphis cotton, 12 1/2. New York gold, 102 3/4. Memphis gold, 102 1/4.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.
W. D. DRY, OFFICE OF THE OFFICIALS.
Washington, January 23, 1877.
Indications in Tennessee and Ohio valley, rising somewhat, north to west wind, cold, partly cloudy weather, and possibly in former occasional rain or snow, succeeded by falling barometer and winds shifting westerly and southerly.

OBSERVATIONS YESTERDAY.
W. D. DRY, SIGNAL SERVICE U. S. ARMY.
Monday, Jan. 22, 1877, 10:08 a.m.
Place of Observation. Bar. Ther. Wind. Weather.
Gallatin. 30.27. 47. N. Cloudy.
Helena. 30.27. 47. N. Cloudy.
Nashville. 30.24. 41. N. W. Cloudy.
Memphis. 30.43. 41. N. W. Cloudy.
St. Louis. 30.41. 37. N. W. Cloudy.
St. Paul. 30.41. 37. N. W. Cloudy.
St. Petersburg. 30.43. 41. N. W. Cloudy.

KOSSTERN has been offered a seat as deputy in the Hungarian parliament.

A DISPATCH from Washington last night announced the suspension of publication of the Washington Chronicle.

THE KANSAS CITY, Missouri, board of trade yesterday adopted resolutions approving the joint committee's plan of counting the electoral votes.

THE lower house of the Florida legislature yesterday passed an act authorizing the appointment by the State of Florida of Presidential electors.

THE pope has privately notified four Italian, two French, two Spanish and two Austrian ecclesiastics that they are to be appointed cardinals at the next consistory.

THE late interests of the public schools and of the children of the State demand that the present school law have the trial and test of at least another year. The press of the State says so, and the people want it so.

WE again entreat the legislature not to repeal, modify or touch in any way the ten per cent. law. Let it stand as it is. It invites foreign capital to the State, and opens a way for the employment of all the home capital available.

BANKERS, brokers and lawyers, and all who have any new business in the State, money, will find on the second page of this day's APPEAL a decision from the supreme court, delivered on Saturday last, which puts an end to all cavil or question as to the legitimacy of that issue. A righteous, though a long postponed, judgment.

THE people of the State generally will endorse the re-election of Charles N. Gibbs, secretary of state; James L. Gibbs, comptroller; and the election of Marsh T. Polk, treasurer. The first two have served the State faithfully and well, and the latter has no superior for the place to which he has been elected.

ALL who are curious to know what leading senators and representatives think of the bill and report of the committee charged with devising a plan for the counting of the electoral vote, will find a series of brief and pointed interviews on our second page, that throws a flood of light upon the probability of both being adopted.

ACCORDING to the New York Tribune, Secretary Fish, in talking with political friends on Friday, expressed his approval of the report and bill regulating the count of the electoral vote. He thought it fair and just, and saw no reason why Republicans should hesitate to submit their case to such a board of arbitration as the bill proposed. He is of the opinion that if members of either party express unwillingness to accept the decision of this board, it is equivalent to a admission that they do not deem their cause a good one.

THE Ozark Star suggests the name of Governor Horner in connection with the next election for United States senator in Alabama, and says "Governor Horner has done a great deal for the people of the State, and we mean no disparagement to the claims of any one else when we say that we doubt if any before him ever enjoyed so universally their confidence and esteem. If it were announced at the opening of the next State canvass that Governor Horner was to be the Democratic nominee for the position now disgraced by Spencer, there would be the jolliest shaking of dry bones since Ezekiel's vision."

THE New York World discards the story of our Associated Press reporter sent over wires on Thursday last, and seems to think it an evolution of that industrious gentleman's brain under pressure of Kentucky bourbon. Familiar as we are with the fact that Bourbon has that effect when taken in doses to kill, we must exonerate our friend from all suspicion of inebriation, and, in fact, leave out of sight the fact of his illness or delirium for a spirit that is very much to the taste of the average Memphis, that his snafus were veritable live "creatures," raised from heaven on purpose to furnish him an item and increase the mystery attendant upon our Mardi Gras preliminary.

In reply to a resolution of the house of representatives, passed early in December, 1876, requesting the President to transmit to that body copies of all orders or directions emanating from him, or from either of the executive departments, to any military commander or civil officer, relating to the service of the army in Virginia, South Carolina, Louisiana and Florida since the first of August last, with all the reports from any of said military or civil officers, the President yesterday sent to the house of representatives a message in the course of which he cited law and precedents which he argued justified him in all that he has done in the way of sending troops to the south to assist in rebuilding the people. Among other things he recalled the Burns fugitive-slave law case, under Buchanan's administration, and that in 1859, "when John Brown, with a small number of men, made his attack upon Harper's Ferry, the President ordered United States troops to assist in the apprehension and suppression of him and his party without a formal call of the legislature or governor of Virginia and without the proclamation of the President." Furnishing these as precedents, which are not precedents at all, the President concludes by assuring—and we have him the better of the assurance—"both houses of congress and the country that it has been my purpose to administer the executive powers of the government fairly and "in no instance to disregard or transcend the limits of the constitution."

GRANT has become exceedingly communicative of late. On Saturday last he was interviewed by delegations of Democrats and Republicans from Tennessee, both of whom he seemed to call the congressional committees reported, the status quo would be strictly observed; and in his own emphatic way he assured the latter, as we learn from the New Orleans Times, that it was useless to urge him to take any immediate action in the matter. He then went on to say that among his reasons for declining to recognize Pickens, the chief one was found in the fact that when, in 1872, he recognized Kellogg, he was severely and bitterly criticised by the Republican press of the country, and found that instead of appearing as a champion of party he had simply brought upon himself abuse and harsh opinions from all sides, added to vexations of mind, and by this he determined to profit before entering upon a similar harassing experience. "Besides," said the President, addressing himself to a distinguished senator present, "I have yet forgotten, nor am I likely to forget very soon, that on that occasion a Republican senate refused to sustain me in the action I took. The history of the Louisiana case, in 1872, has at least taught me to be cautious, and careful of judgment in such matters, and I do not intend to place myself in such a position the second time."

The debate in the senate yesterday on the bill providing for and regulating the count of the vote for President and Vice-President, was conducted by Morton, Sherman, and Cameron against it, and Edmunds [V.] and Bayard [D.] for it, the former insisting that he would bring it to a final vote to-day. All news of the bill looks as if it will pass.

The bill provides for the appointment of a committee of five members, three from the Democratic senators in regard to the bill, and two from the Republican senators, to be charged with the duty of counting the electoral votes. Every compromise made has been ruinous to the country and destructive to the party making it. The author of the Missouri compromise was ruined, and he (Cameron) hoped the senator from Vermont (Edmunds) would not place himself in a position to be ruined, because he (Cameron) loved him. Three members of the committee on the part of the senate "had voted to gratify their opponents. He did not believe there were three members of the Democratic party in the senate who would vote against the bill. He objected to the bill," Senator Edmunds held his opponents patiently, and answered them effectively, seeming to feel warranted in the position he took by the two votes already had upon the bill. It will pass, and go to the house to-day.

NASHVILLE.
Proceedings of the Legislature Yesterday.—The Lessees of the Penitentiary are being out of hands.
The gubernatorial vote was an act of Gibbs elected for governor of the State, Polk Treasurer, and Gibbs Comptroller.

special to the appeal.
Nashville, January 22.—Senate.—The following bills passed first reading and were referred: By Mr. Adams: To release the tax on litigation on year to the counties that have built new jails since 1874, or will hereafter. By Mr. Garner: A bill providing that persons convicted and sent to the penitentiary, and not able to pay costs, be compelled to work out the amount at fifty cents per day, and giving power to the comptroller to employ the labor of the convicts in the penitentiary. By Mr. Garner: Creating the office of assistant reporter to the attorney-general, whose special duty it shall be to report the decisions of the supreme court.

House.—By Mr. Neal: A resolution authorizing a committee of four on the public printing. The house then went into joint convention to receive a message from the governor. The committee reported that returns have been received from all the counties except Carroll, Madison, and Monroe. The governor's message was received from all the counties except Carroll, Madison, and Monroe. The governor's message was received from all the counties except Carroll, Madison, and Monroe.

House.—By Mr. Neal: A resolution authorizing a committee of four on the public printing. The house then went into joint convention to receive a message from the governor. The committee reported that returns have been received from all the counties except Carroll, Madison, and Monroe. The governor's message was received from all the counties except Carroll, Madison, and Monroe.

House.—By Mr. Neal: A resolution authorizing a committee of four on the public printing. The house then went into joint convention to receive a message from the governor. The committee reported that returns have been received from all the counties except Carroll, Madison, and Monroe. The governor's message was received from all the counties except Carroll, Madison, and Monroe.

House.—By Mr. Neal: A resolution authorizing a committee of four on the public printing. The house then went into joint convention to receive a message from the governor. The committee reported that returns have been received from all the counties except Carroll, Madison, and Monroe. The governor's message was received from all the counties except Carroll, Madison, and Monroe.

House.—By Mr. Neal: A resolution authorizing a committee of four on the public printing. The house then went into joint convention to receive a message from the governor. The committee reported that returns have been received from all the counties except Carroll, Madison, and Monroe. The governor's message was received from all the counties except Carroll, Madison, and Monroe.

House.—By Mr. Neal: A resolution authorizing a committee of four on the public printing. The house then went into joint convention to receive a message from the governor. The committee reported that returns have been received from all the counties except Carroll, Madison, and Monroe. The governor's message was received from all the counties except Carroll, Madison, and Monroe.

House.—By Mr. Neal: A resolution authorizing a committee of four on the public printing. The house then went into joint convention to receive a message from the governor. The committee reported that returns have been received from all the counties except Carroll, Madison, and Monroe. The governor's message was received from all the counties except Carroll, Madison, and Monroe.

WASHINGTON.

The Original Bulldozer, Old Zach Chandler, Denounces a Forger who has been in the Congressional Committee are Proving His Rascalties.

Grant Talks Fair for Louisiana.—He Will Sign the Electoral-Vote Bill if it Passes, and it Will Pass by a Good Majority.

The Democrats of the House are Nearly All For It.—Proceedings of Both Houses of Congress.—The Electoral Vote in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, January 22.—Secretary Chandler denounces a forger who has been in the Congressional Committee are Proving His Rascalties.

Grant Talks Fair for Louisiana.—He Will Sign the Electoral-Vote Bill if it Passes, and it Will Pass by a Good Majority.

The Democrats of the House are Nearly All For It.—Proceedings of Both Houses of Congress.—The Electoral Vote in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, January 22.—Secretary Chandler denounces a forger who has been in the Congressional Committee are Proving His Rascalties.

Grant Talks Fair for Louisiana.—He Will Sign the Electoral-Vote Bill if it Passes, and it Will Pass by a Good Majority.

The Democrats of the House are Nearly All For It.—Proceedings of Both Houses of Congress.—The Electoral Vote in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, January 22.—Secretary Chandler denounces a forger who has been in the Congressional Committee are Proving His Rascalties.

Grant Talks Fair for Louisiana.—He Will Sign the Electoral-Vote Bill if it Passes, and it Will Pass by a Good Majority.

The Democrats of the House are Nearly All For It.—Proceedings of Both Houses of Congress.—The Electoral Vote in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, January 22.—Secretary Chandler denounces a forger who has been in the Congressional Committee are Proving His Rascalties.

Grant Talks Fair for Louisiana.—He Will Sign the Electoral-Vote Bill if it Passes, and it Will Pass by a Good Majority.

The Democrats of the House are Nearly All For It.—Proceedings of Both Houses of Congress.—The Electoral Vote in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, January 22.—Secretary Chandler denounces a forger who has been in the Congressional Committee are Proving His Rascalties.

Grant Talks Fair for Louisiana.—He Will Sign the Electoral-Vote Bill if it Passes, and it Will Pass by a Good Majority.

The Democrats of the House are Nearly All For It.—Proceedings of Both Houses of Congress.—The Electoral Vote in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, January 22.—Secretary Chandler denounces a forger who has been in the Congressional Committee are Proving His Rascalties.

Grant Talks Fair for Louisiana.—He Will Sign the Electoral-Vote Bill if it Passes, and it Will Pass by a Good Majority.

The Democrats of the House are Nearly All For It.—Proceedings of Both Houses of Congress.—The Electoral Vote in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, January 22.—Secretary Chandler denounces a forger who has been in the Congressional Committee are Proving His Rascalties.

Grant Talks Fair for Louisiana.—He Will Sign the Electoral-Vote Bill if it Passes, and it Will Pass by a Good Majority.

The Democrats of the House are Nearly All For It.—Proceedings of Both Houses of Congress.—The Electoral Vote in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, January 22.—Secretary Chandler denounces a forger who has been in the Congressional Committee are Proving His Rascalties.

Grant Talks Fair for Louisiana.—He Will Sign the Electoral-Vote Bill if it Passes, and it Will Pass by a Good Majority.

The Democrats of the House are Nearly All For It.—Proceedings of Both Houses of Congress.—The Electoral Vote in the Senate.

THE EAST.

Turkey Not Gobbled Yet—Her Study Independence is not without Effect in Staying the Hands of Her Enemies.

Russia, while Confessing her Readiness for War, says she will not Assume the Responsibility Single-Handed.

She will not Fire a Shot without the Co-Operation of Europe.—The Latest Phases of German, Austrian and French Opinion.

New York, January 21.—The Vienna correspondent of the Herald telegraphs that he has just received from Constantinople a dispatch after the closing of the conference it will spontaneously offer considerable concessions to the powers, which it may refuse to yield under compulsion.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Paris says that the recent hostile utterances of the German press have caused a very serious impression. The French journals are alluding to the attitude of non-interference in regard to foreign affairs. They deny that any extraordinary measures of any organization are on foot.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

THE SOUTH.

Turkey Not Gobbled Yet—Her Study Independence is not without Effect in Staying the Hands of Her Enemies.

Russia, while Confessing her Readiness for War, says she will not Assume the Responsibility Single-Handed.

She will not Fire a Shot without the Co-Operation of Europe.—The Latest Phases of German, Austrian and French Opinion.

New York, January 21.—The Vienna correspondent of the Herald telegraphs that he has just received from Constantinople a dispatch after the closing of the conference it will spontaneously offer considerable concessions to the powers, which it may refuse to yield under compulsion.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Paris says that the recent hostile utterances of the German press have caused a very serious impression. The French journals are alluding to the attitude of non-interference in regard to foreign affairs. They deny that any extraordinary measures of any organization are on foot.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

THE WEST.

Turkey Not Gobbled Yet—Her Study Independence is not without Effect in Staying the Hands of Her Enemies.

Russia, while Confessing her Readiness for War, says she will not Assume the Responsibility Single-Handed.

She will not Fire a Shot without the Co-Operation of Europe.—The Latest Phases of German, Austrian and French Opinion.

New York, January 21.—The Vienna correspondent of the Herald telegraphs that he has just received from Constantinople a dispatch after the closing of the conference it will spontaneously offer considerable concessions to the powers, which it may refuse to yield under compulsion.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Paris says that the recent hostile utterances of the German press have caused a very serious impression. The French journals are alluding to the attitude of non-interference in regard to foreign affairs. They deny that any extraordinary measures of any organization are on foot.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

THE NORTH.

Turkey Not Gobbled Yet—Her Study Independence is not without Effect in Staying the Hands of Her Enemies.

Russia, while Confessing her Readiness for War, says she will not Assume the Responsibility Single-Handed.

She will not Fire a Shot without the Co-Operation of Europe.—The Latest Phases of German, Austrian and French Opinion.

New York, January 21.—The Vienna correspondent of the Herald telegraphs that he has just received from Constantinople a dispatch after the closing of the conference it will spontaneously offer considerable concessions to the powers, which it may refuse to yield under compulsion.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Paris says that the recent hostile utterances of the German press have caused a very serious impression. The French journals are alluding to the attitude of non-interference in regard to foreign affairs. They deny that any extraordinary measures of any organization are on foot.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication.

London, January 21.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the conference is still in session, and that the powers are still in communication. The conference is